CHARTERS.

40th GEORGE III.

22nd March, 1800.

GEORGE THE THIRD, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c. To all to whom these Presents shall come, Whereas our Royal Predecessor, King Edward IV., by certain Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of England, bearing date the 24th Day of February, in the first Year of his Reign, did at the Supplication of the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London, using the Mystery or Faculty of Surgery, grant to them, among other Things, that the said Mystery, and all the Men of the same Mystery of the said City, should be one Body and Perpetual Community, and that two Principals of the same Commonalty, of the most expert Men in the Mystery of Surgery, might, with the assent of twelve or eight Persons at the least, of the same Community, every Year elect and make out of the Community, two Masters, or Governors, being the most expert in the Mystery of Surgery, to oversee, rule, and govern, the Mystery and Commonalty aforesaid.

Recital of the Letters Patent of 1st Edward 4th; incorporating the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London.

And whereas by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the 32d Year of the late King Henry VIII. intitled for Barbers and Surgeons, after reciting, that, within the City of London, there were then two several and distinct Companies of Surgeons, occupying and exercising the Faculty of Surgery, one Company called the Barbers of London, and the other Company called the Surgeons of London. It was thereby enacted, That the said two several and distinct Companies of Surgeons should from thenceforth be united, and made one intire and whole Body Corporate, and one Commonalty Perpetual, which at all times thereafter should be called by the Name of the Masters or Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty of the Barbers and Surgeons of London; and by the same Name to implead and be impleaded before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Suits.

Of the Act 32d Henry 8th.

By which the two Companies of Barbers of London, and Surgeons of London were united.

Of the Letters Patent of 5th Charles 1st.

And whereas, in and by certain Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of England, bearing Date the 15th Day of August, in the 5th Year of the Reign of His late Majesty, King Charles I., reciting that the Men of the same Companies enjoyed divers Liberties and Franchises within the City of London, the Suburbs and Liberties thereof, by virtue of divers Acts of Parliament, and divers Charters, and Letters Patent, His said Majesty did grant and confirm unto the said Masters and Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty aforesaid, and their Successors, all and singular the Manors, Messuages, Lands, Tenements, Customs, Liberties, Franchises, Immunities, Jurisdictions, and Hereditaments, whatsoever, which the Men of the said Companies then held, used, and enjoyed, by any lawful Means or Title whatsoever: And his said late Majesty did thereby give power to the said Corporation, to make annual Elections of Masters or Governors of the said Commonalty, whereof two to be Professors in the Art and Science of Surgery; and also to elect and constitute ten of the Freemen of the said Society to be Examiners of Surgeons in London.

Which confirmed to such united Company all the possessions, franchises and liberties which the said Company then held and enjoyed, with power to make annual Elections of Masters or Governors whereof two to be Professors in Surgery; and to elect ten Freemen to be Examiners.

Recital of the Act of 18th of George 2d.

And whereas, by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the 18th Year of the Reign of our late Royal Grandfather, King George II., intitled "An Act for making the Surgeons of London, and the Barbers of London, two separate and distinct Corporations," It was enacted, that the said Union and Incorporation of the Barbers and Surgeons of London, made and effected by the aforesaid Act of the 32d Year of King Henry VIII. should, from and after the 24th Day of June, 1745, be dissolved and declared void and of no effect; and that such of the Members of the said united Company who were Freemen of the said Company, and admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company, and their Successors, should from thenceforth be made, and they were thereby made and constituted, a separate and distinct Body Corporate and Commonalty Perpetual, which at all times thereafter were to be called by the Name of Master, Governors and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, and by the same Name might implead and be impleaded before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits, and take to them and their Successors, Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, not exceeding the yearly Value of £200 in the whole.

by which the Union of the two Companies was dissolved; and which constituted a distinct Company of Surgeons, by the Name of "The Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London."

Recital that such Corporation was dissolved.

And whereas, we are informed that the said Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, hath become and now is dissolved: And whereas, it is of great consequence to the Commonweal of this Kingdom, that the Art and Science of Surgery should be duly promoted: And whereas, it appears to us, that the Establishment of a College of Surgeons will be expedient for the due promotion and encouragement of the Study and Practice of the said Art and Science, Now We, of our special Grace and mere Motion, and at the humble Petition of James Earle, Esquire, the late Master, and divers other Members of the aforesaid late Corporation of Surgeons; have willed, ordained, constituted, declared, given and granted, and by these Presents, for Us, Our Heirs, and Successors, do will, ordain, constitute, and declare, give and grant; unto the aforesaid James Earle, and unto all the Members of the said late Company or Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London; having been admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company; and also unto all such Persons, who upon, or since, the dissolution of the said Corporation, shall have obtained Letters Testimonial, under a Seal purporting to be the Seal of the said late dissolved Corporation, authorizing them to practise the Art and Science of Surgery; and they, from henceforth for ever hereafter, shall be and remain by virtue of these Presents, one Body Corporate and Politic; by the Name of The Royal College of Surgeons in London, and by the same Name shall and may have perpetual Succession, and a Common Seal; with power to break, alter, and make anew the said Seal, from time to time at their will and pleasure; and by the same Name shall and may implead, and be impleaded, before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits; and shall be at all times for ever hereafter persons able and capable in Law to take, purchase, possess, hold, and enjoy, and shall and may take, purchase, possess, hold and enjoy, a Hall or Council-house, with its Appurtenances, situate within the Cities of London or Westminster, or within one Mile of either of them, for the use and purposes of the said College; and also any other Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, wheresoever situate, lying and being; not exceeding, together with the aforesaid Hall or Council-house, and its appurtenances, the yearly value of one thousand Pounds in the whole; without incurring any of the Penalties in any Statute of Mortmain, or any Thing, in any Statute of Mortmain, to the contrary notwithstanding.

That it is of great consequence that the Science of Surgery should be duly promoted, and that a College will be expedient for the due encouragement thereof.

Therefore His Majesty was pleased to incorporate the Members of the late Company, and all such Persons who since the Dissolution thereof have obtained Letters Testimonial &c.

By the name of "The Royal College of Surgeons in London."

With perpetual succession and a common seal;

and power to hold and enjoy a Council-house within London or Westminster or one mile of either of them; and to possess lands and tenements, including such Council-House of the yearly value of £1000 in mortmain.

And it is Our further Will and Pleasure, that nothing in these Presents

Proviso.—That the City of London shall not have any jurisdiction over the College.

shall be construed to give the Corporation of the City of London any Power or Jurisdiction over the said College hereby established and incorporated;

Nor the Members of the College enjoy any franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City of London.

and that no Person, by virtue of these our Letters Patent, constituted or ordained, or hereafter to be admitted a Member of the said College, shall be thereby entitled to any Franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City of London.

The College to enjoy all other privileges and possessions by any former Acts or Letters Patent, given to, or otherwise acquired by, the late Company, not hereby altered, &c.

THE COUNCIL.

The Council, the governing body of the College, consists of twenty-four Members, three* of whom go out in rotation annually in July, but are eligible for re-election by the Fellows of the College. All proceedings of the Court of Examiners, the Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology, the Midwifery and Dental Boards, and the several Committees are reported to the Council for approval and confirmation. The Meetings of the Council are generally held in each month of the year, except in the month of September, and at such other times as the business of the College may require. During the past Collegiate Year there have been sixteen Meetings.

THE COURT OF EXAMINERS.

The Court of Examiners consists of ten Members elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College. The Court superintends the carrying out generally the regulations of the Council relating to the preliminary and professional education of Students, and has, until January 1876, conducted both the professional examinations of Candidates for the Diplomas of Fellow and Member of the College, the conduct of the Primary Examinations for the Fellowship and Membership having since December last devolved upon the Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology. During the past Collegiate year the Court has held six Meetings for the Examinations for the Fellowship, and nine Meetings for the Primary and twenty-eight Meetings for the Pass Examinations for the Membership.

* If in any year one of the three retiring Members be President of the College, he does not go out of office until the succeeding year.

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.

The Board consists of nine Members annually elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College. The Board conducts the Primary Examinations in Anatomy and Physiology for the Diplomas of Fellow and Member, and has held since December 1875, the date of its appointment, two Meetings for the Fellowship and seventeen Meetings for the Membership.

The following is a statement of the number of Candidates who presented themselves for the Fellowship and Membership respectively, with the results of the several Examinations, viz. :—

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN MIDWIFERY.

The Board consists of four Members annually elected, viz. :—The Chairman, one of the Vice-Presidents of the College, and three other Members, who are required to be elected either from the Fellows or Members of the College, or from the Fellows or Licentiates of the Royal College of Physicians of London. The Board conducts the Examination of Candidates for the Licence in Midwifery. There have been six Candidates examined during the year, all of whom were approved and obtained the Licence.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN DENTAL SURGERY.

The Board consists of six Members elected by the Council for five years, viz. :—three Members of the Court of Examiners of the College, and three other persons skilled in Dental Surgery. The Board conducts the Examination of Candidates for the Diploma in Dental Surgery of the College. During the year thirty-one Candidates have been examined, twenty-one of whom passed to the satisfaction of the Board.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

In fulfilment of my duty as President of the College, I present the following Annual Report to the Council, with a view to its publication for the infor ation of the Fellows and Members. It is written on the same plan as that of my immediate predecessor; and I alone am responsible for the statements made in it.

At the Meeting of Fellows of the College, held on the 1st of July, 1875, Mr. Prescott Hewett and Mr. Birkett, who, in rotation, had retired from the Council, were reelected, and Mr. Cooper Forster was elected a Member of the Council.

By the death of Mr. Southam, the Council has lost one of its most esteemed Members. While he had health he gave to the affairs of the College much of the time that he could withdraw from the busy life of active practice in Manchester.

In the Court of Examiners only one change has taken place. On the retirement of Mr. Hancock, Mr. Erichsen was elected.

In last year's Report (see Calendar, 1875, p. 306) the President stated that the Council had determined that the Examinations in Anatomy and Physiology should be conducted by a Board of Examiners distinct from the Court of Examiners, and that a report on the mode by which this change might be effected was to be soon laid before the Council. The report thus promised was considered and approved on the 1st of November, 1875; and the new method of examination was first adopted in January of this year.

The Board of Examiners in Anatomy and Physiology consists of nine members, elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College and distinguished by their knowledge, especially as shown while being or having been teachers, of the subjects of examination. They are to be elected annually, and are not to hold office for more than five consecutive years.

The first-elected Members of the Board were Mr. Birkett, Mr. Holden, Mr. Cooper Forster, Mr. Savory, Mr. Holmes, Mr. John Wood, Mr. Power, Mr. Gascoyen, and Mr. Heath; and on Mr. Gascoyen's death, even before the end of the first Examination by the Board, Mr. Hulke was elected.

A Committee on Examinations in Anatomy and Physiology, consisting of three Members of the Council, with the President and Vice-Presidents, is appointed annually, and has for its duties "to consider applications from Candidates for the Examinerships, to report thereon to the Council, to recommend those deemed fittest for election" (recommending always not less than two for each vacancy), "to be visitors of the Examinations, and to make representations and recommendations concerning them to the Council."

It is hoped that, among other advantages to be derived from this change in the plan of the College Examinations, there may be a more general study of Physiology in our schools, and, especially, that among the junior Candidates for the Fellowship the study of both Human and Comparative Anatomy and Physiology may be encouraged by necessity. But the change must be very gradual; the teaching of the schools cannot be quickly changed to suit a change of Examinations; and during the change Examiners of such good sense and experience in teaching as those who compose the present Board will know how to condescend (if the word may be used) to the blameless imperfections of students. They know very well the hardship and unfairness of Examinations for which the standard of necessary knowledge is quickly raised or changed, and that especial care is necessary when the subject of examination is one in which the progress of science makes frequent changes and which in different schools is variously taught.

Further, I will venture to say that the reputation and utility of the College will be enhanced if junior Fellows should be induced by these Examinations, and by success in passing them, to continue to devote themselves more than is now common to the complete and long-continued study of Anatomy and Physiology, as well Comparative as Human. The reputation and the social rank of the Surgical Profession in England owe as much to those among its members who have been eminent in biological science as to those who have been great practical surgeons. The College may justly claim to be, in this country, the chief promoter of Anatomy in its highest and widest range; and nothing within the power of the Council will be left undone to maintain this honourable claim. Inducements to devote to biological science any of the time which may be spent in gaining lucrative practice are only very slowly increasing: and it will be well if they be increased, in however small a degree, by the institution of these examinations and the appointment of special Examiners.

Dr. Wilks having resigned the office of Examiner in Medicine, Dr. George Johnson was elected; but finding that he could not fulfil at the same time the duties of this office and those of Senior Censor of the Royal College of Physicians, he retired, and Dr. Sieveking was elected in his stead. In the interval between these elections Dr. Wilks was so good as to continue to discharge the duties of the office.

In the Board of Examiners in Dental Surgery, Mr. Hancock having retired, Mr. Birkett was elected; and on the retirement of Mr. Samuel Cartwright and Mr. Ibbetson, Mr. Thomas Arnold Rogers and Mr. Barrett were elected. Mr. Salter was reelected.

An important step in the education of Dental Surgeons has been taken in the resolution passed in February, that all Candidates for the Dental Diploma who commence their professional studies in or after October 1877, shall be required to pass the same preliminary examination as Candidates for the Membership of the College.

Mr. Quain's term of office as the representative of the College in the General Medical Council having expired he was reelected.

Mr. Flower, having happily regained his health, was able to resume a part of the duties of the Hunterian Professorship, and delivered half the course of Lectures, the rest being given by Professor Parker.

Mr. Robert Brudenell Carter was elected Professor of Surgery and Pathology.

Since July 1875, eleven Members of the College, of the required standing, have been elected to the Fellowship.

The results of the College Examinations are thus enumerated:—

Communications from the General Medical Council, including their "Recommendations and Opinions on Professional Examination" and their "Reports of the Visitors of Examinations" at the College, led to a consideration, both by the Court of Examiners and by the Council, of the whole method of the Examinations for the Membership.

It is believed that the detailed reply of the Council to the "Recommendations" will be published by the General Medical Council. Its general tenor was to show that the great majority of the recommendations, in so far as they were applicable to the College Examinations, were in accordance with the rules maintained in the College; and the Council expressed its concurrence, with recommendations "that the teaching of Pharmacy should be an early, and the teaching of Therapeutics a late, course in the curriculum," and, "that the knowledge of every Practitioner whose name appears on the register shall have been tested in all the subjects of Professional Education which the [General Medical] Council has determined to be essential."

The Council has always regarded this as a principal advantage to be derived from conjoint examinations, and has only delayed measures for the institution of examinations in other subjects than those now required of Candidates for the Membership in the expectation that such measures would be rendered unnecessary by the adoption of the "Conjoint Scheme."

In remarking (according to the wish of the General Medical Council) on the Report of the Visitors of the Examinations, the Council, having already had the subject under consideration, accorded with a suggestion that the time devoted to examination in Anatomy and Physiology should be increased. The increase was made and greater distinctness was given to the examination in Physiology, as soon as the Board of Examiners on Anatomy and Physiology entered on their duties.

But on consideration of other suggestions made by the Visitors, and of opinions expressed in the General Medical Council, to which the attention of the Council of the College was drawn by Mr. Quain, there did not appear sufficient reason for changing the methods of the College Examinations.

It is impossible but that in questions respecting methods of examination differences of opinion should arise; and probably nothing can tend more to the improvement of examinations than the freedom with which they are visited and discussed, both by the Medical Council and (at least in this College) by a very large number of persons engaged in teaching both at home and abroad. But, relying on their very great experience in examinations, the Council and the Court of Examiners think it not unlikely that their opinion on some points may be right, though not yet commanding the assent of all.

The "Enabling Act," which was referred to in the Presidential Report of last year (see Calendar, 1875, p. 307), received the Royal Assent on the 15th of July. It is entitled "An Act to amend the Medical Acts so far as relates to the Royal College of Surgeons of England;" and its principal Clause enacts that—

"It shall be lawful for the council for the time being of the said college to prescribe, by a bye-law under the common seal of the said college, that no person shall become a fellow or member or licentiate in midwifery of the said college unless (in addition to passsing such examination (if any) and complying with such other conditions (if any) as may be prescribed by any bye-laws in force for the time being made in pursuance of any charter of the said college) he shall have passed such examinations, herein-after called the joint examinations, for qualification to be registered under the Medical Act, and complied with such conditions relating thereto as may be agreed upon between the said college and the college or body, colleges or bodies, with whom the said college may be united or co-operating as aforesaid; and every person who shall have passed such joint examinations and complied with such conditions as aforesaid shall be entitled to receive letters testimonial of his qualification to practise the art and science of surgery under the common seal of the said college, on obtaining which he shall become and be constituted a member of the said college, subject to all the regulations, provisions, and bye-laws in force for the time being of the said college."

In the passage of the Bill through the House of Commons, it was threatened with opposition on the ground that it might add to the hindrances to the admission of women to the Medical Profession; and as there was ample reason to believe that such opposition would prevent the passing of the Bill it was agreed that the following Clause should be added:—

"Nothing in this Act contained shall deprive the said college of the right (if any) existing at the passing of this Act, or relieve them from the obligation (if any) existing at the passing of this Act, to admit women to the examinations required for letters testimonial of the college, or for a qualification to be registered under the 'Medical Act, 1858,' or to grant letters testimonial to any woman who has satisfactorily passed the examinations and fulfilled the other general conditions imposed upon persons seeking to obtain from the said college such letters testimonial or qualification."

At the meeting of the Council next following the passing of the Act, it was resolved "to take steps for renewing the negotiations with the other English medical authorities for the formation of a scheme for a Conjoint Examination-Board in England;" and a Conference of Representatives of the several authorities was invited to meet at the College. The invitation was at once accepted by the Universities and the College of Physicians; and at the first meeting of the Conference it was resolved to invite the Society of Apothecaries, who, by an Enabling Act (37–38 Vict. c. 34), were relieved from the legal inability which prevented their taking part in the former proceedings for the institution of a Conjoint Examination. In all the following meetings of the Conference all the English Medical Authorities were represented; and, after seven meetings, the Conference decided to submit to the Authorities, for their consideration, an "Amended Scheme." The chief differences between this and the former scheme are that the appointments of Examiners nominated by the Committee of Reference are to be apportioned, according to a definite plan, among the several medical authorities. Each of the authorities is to appoint the portion of the Examiners assigned to it in such manner as it shall think fit. And on each occasion the Committee of Reference is to nominate not less than twice the number of Examiners to be appointed.

In the plan thus defined, the appointments assigned to the College, namely, those of six Examiners in Surgery, four in Anatomy and Physiology, and two in Midwifery, are such as, it is believed, may fairly satisfy the desire expressed by the Fellows and Members of the College at their Meeting in April 1870. They may enable the Council to retain, so far as is possible in any conjoint scheme of examination, their direct responsibility for the education in Anatomy and Surgery of the large majority of persons desirous to practice surgery in England.

The results of the consideration of the Amended Scheme by the several authorities are not yet all known; but there is sufficient reason to believe that the difficulties in the way of a conjoint examination are much less than they were at this time last year.

Questions connected with the admission of women into the Medical Profession have engaged much of the attention of the Council during the past year.

In the Charter of 15th Victoria, granted to the College in 1852, chiefly for the purpose of determining the methods of electing Fellows, Members of the Council, and Examiners, the Council were "authorized," and not only authorized but "required," to institute an examination for Certificates of "fitness to practice in Midwifery;" and there is sufficient reason to believe that it was understood that such certificates might be granted to either women or men. There was at that time, six years before the passing of the Medical Act, no question about registrable qualifications, and scarcely any question about the admission of women to the general practice of the profession. But the Medical Act of 1858 named, in its Schedule A, among the titles under which persons might be registered, and by registration might become "qualified medical practitioners," the title of Licentiate in Midwifery of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. The title was accepted as meaning the holders of certificates of fitness, for there were no others to whom it could be applied; and all those holding the certificate are included in the College-Calendar, and entered in the Medical Register, as Licentiates in Midwifery.

Practically, however, the title has been only honorary, for it is borne by none but those who have other registrable qualifications. Between 1852 and 1860 four persons were examined for the Midwifery Certificate who were not already qualified for practice: of these, two were rejected, and of the two who passed one obtained a few years later another registrable qualification, and the other is not registered; it is believed that he is practising abroad. Thus it may fairly be said that the College has not used its right to grant certificates to practice in Midwifery as a means of admitting persons to the Medical Profession. There is little doubt that any man who had complied with the regulations might have legally compelled the Council to admit him to the examination and, on passing, to grant him the certificate; but while it could be said to such a man that there were many other ways into the profession open to him, it was not likely that he would incur the trouble of compulsory proceedings.

With women the case is different. It may be doubted whether they can claim to be examined for any qualification to practice, and with which to be registered as legally qualified medical practitioners, except this Certificate or License in Midwifery.

The subject was formally brought before the Council by one of its members in January, and it was decided to obtain a legal opinion on several questions likely to arise in the case.

Questions were therefore submitted to Mr. Bevir, the Standing Counsel to the College; and his answers left no doubt that the Council have the power to admit women to the Examinations in Midwifery, and can be compelled to do so. He says:—

"I am of opinion that the Council of the College have the power to admit women to the Examinations in Midwifery.... There is not any thing in the Charter from which it can be inferred that the Examination should be confined to Members of the College, or which gives the Licentiate [in Midwifery] any corporate status or privilege—a circumstance which, if it had existed, would, according to my opinion, have been sufficient to exclude women.

"Assuming that the Council have the power, I am of opinion that they can be compelled to admit women to Examination in Midwifery. The Charter not merely authorizes but requires the Council to institute this Examination."

In January three ladies presented themselves for admission to the Examination, and produced certificates of having completed, as they believed, the necessary course of study. The study required by the regulations of the College for the License in Midwifery is the same as that required for the diploma of Member, with the addition of attendance on a larger number of cases of Midwifery; and Candidates for the Membership of the College who have pursued the whole of their studies in Scotland are admitted to examination upon the production of the Certificates required by the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh from Candidates for their diploma. The studies of these ladies, extending over nearly seven years, were, in several subjects, more than are required by the regulations of the College—whether for the Membership or for the Licence in Midwifery; they were also more than sufficient for the diploma of the Edinburgh College. There was only one ground on which the certificates could be called insufficient or irregular. The College-regulations say that Candidates for the Membership who "have pursued the whole of their studies in Scotland .... will be admitted to examination upon the production of the certificates required by the College of Surgeons of Edinburgh." .... These ladies had pursued "the whole of their" required "studies in Scotland," with the exception of one course of Lectures on Anatomy with Dissections, which they had attended in London*. Surely an objection on such a ground as this would have been, in any court, condemned as frivolous; the more so since the Lectures in London would have been "recognized" by the Edinburgh College. The Council therefore, on a report from the President and Vice-Presidents, stating the facts above cited, and "that the certificates were such that, were the applicants men, they would be entitled to admission to examination for the License of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh," decided on the admission of these ladies to the Examination.

The Council felt bound to admit them; it could not have evaded the obligation on any equitable or reasonable grounds; and the obligation was the stronger because of that clause in the "Enabling Act," already cited, which, as a condition of allowing the College to take part in a conjoint examination, bound it to admit women to the examinations to which they could claim admission at the time of the passing of the Act.

In the whole of this matter the Council has acted as obliged by law. It has not discussed or expressed any opinion on the general question of the admission of women to the medical profession; it has long held that the examination of candidates for license to practice in any branch of medicine should comprise all the chief subjects of medical and surgical study; in this view it has promoted the formation of the scheme for conjoint examinations, but it could not make a fresh rule for these three candidates. The Charter of the College, corroborated by the Enabling Act, imposed on the Council the duty of instituting a separate examination in Midwifery, to which women were to be admissible; and this duty the Council were obliged to fulfil.

But the Examiners in Midwifery were not under any similar obligation. They resigned their appointments on the ground that they were unwilling to be, in any way, instrumental in placing on the Medical Register, as qualified Medical Practitioners, persons who had been examined in Midwifery alone, or in enabling any to practise Midwifery who had not proved themselves instructed in Medicine and Surgery.

The Council having reason to doubt whether it would be possible to fill the offices thus vacated in such a manner as would sustain the reputation of the Midwifery-Certificate, decided to defer for a time the holding of examinations in Midwifery. It seemed not improbable that the difficulty might be solved by legislation on the general question of the admission of women to the right to practise medicine.

The Council has determined to make considerable changes in the regulations for admission to the Fellowship by examination.

The original regulations were well designed for promoting among students a higher general education and a more prolonged and complete study, in the schools, of both the scientific and the practical subjects of surgery; and the list of the Fellows by examination proves honourably that the regulations fulfilled this design.

But the regulations have excluded some who have deserved the Fellowship, and might justly have been admitted to it. For example:—some, having not presented themselves for the preliminary examination at the beginning of their medical school-studies, have never afterwards been able to find time for due preparation for it: their time has been wholly occupied in professional study and practice. Some, even after passing the first professional examination for the Fellowship, and after obtaining the Membership of the College, have been unable to complete the required six years' study in the schools and recognized hospitals: they have received appointments in the Army or Navy or in public services; or they have been tempted or obliged to begin private practice, and have been unable to keep themselves prepared for a high examination in any thing but the practical knowledge of their profession. Some again, having thought that they could not or need not obtain the Fellowship, have been content with the Membership till they have found that, with earnest study and large experience in practical surgery, they have gained such a position in the profession as has seemed incomplete without the higher degree, and this degree could not be obtained without going back to the studies of school—a condition impossible to busy surgeons.

For these and other like reasons it has come about that some of the best provincial surgeons are not Fellows of the College (a loss of reputation both to the College and to themselves); that the number of Fellows by examination is diminishing; and that, as the number of Fellows by election must quickly decrease, for they must have been Members in 1843, there will be a serious diminution of the elective body of the College, unless some change be made.

To avert this fault, and to give just weight to the value of high attainments in all departments of surgical study, the Council has decided on changes of which the following is a summary:—

1. The preliminary examination for the Fellowship will no longer be compulsory; but to those who pass it the advantage will be allowed that they may, as heretofore, present themselves for the first professional examination for the Fellowship at the end of their third winter's session. (Others will not be admissible to this examination till they have obtained the Membership.)

2. The preliminary examination for the Fellowship will be nearly the same as it has been hitherto; but Candidates will be required to translate into English a passage from some Latin author not specially mentioned in the list of subjects of examination. A regulation of this kind has been found to work well in many instances; and, certainly, a person who cannot pass such a test is not to be reckoned among the highly educated.

3. There are to be separate and different examinations for Members of the College of less than ten, and for those of more than ten, years' standing; and in each examination there are to be a first and a second part.

4. Members of the College of less than ten years' standing will be admissible to the first part of the examination at any time after receiving the diploma of Member, and to the second part at any time after having passed the first, after being 25 years old, and after less than six years' study (or study and practice) of their profession. (Members of the College may thus complete their studies in other places than the recognized hospitals and schools; and if they hold appointments in Her Majesty's service they may be admitted to the second part of the examination when they have completed six years' study though they be not yet 25 years old.)

5. The first part of the Examination for these, the Junior, Members will be in Anatomy and Physiology, and the Elements of Comparative Anatomy and Physiology; and the second part will be in Surgery, including Surgical Anatomy and Pathology.

6. Members of the College of not less than ten years' standing will be admissible to the first and second parts of their examination at the same time, or to the second part at any time after passing the first.

7. The first part of the examination for these, the Senior, Members will be in Surgical and Regional Anatomy; the second part will be in Surgery, chiefly in Practical Surgery.

It is hoped that under these rules, which will be brought into operation as soon as the necessary changes in the Bye-Laws are sanctioned, the list of the Fellows of the College may include the name of every English surgeon distinguished for general culture, or for scientific acquirements, or for great practical knowledge.

The Bill relating to Cruelty to Animals, introduced into the House of Lords, was fully considered in the Council, and the President and Vice-Presidents were deputed to seek an interview with the Earl of Carnarvon and state to him the strong objections entertained by the Council to the title of the Bill, to the narrow limitation which the Bill would put on the range of permitted physiological experiments, to the making it illegal to use the only Carnivora useful for experimental purposes, to the permission of charges by common informers, and other provisions of the Bill. The opinion of the Council was fully stated to his Lordship, and, it is hoped, had influence in inducing him to make or adopt several amendments in the proposed Act.

In a Report of this nature it is inevitable that the narrative of affairs which have involved discussions and changes of rules should occupy by far the largest space. But it does not follow, therefore, that those affairs are of the most importance to the College or the Profession. That which is probably more important is the constant maintenance of all the departments of the College in their usual completeness and activity. I need not speak here of the Examinations or the Lectures. The increase and perfect preservation of the Museum, its adaptation to the studies not only of the completest biologist but of the beginning student; the additions to its catalogues; the collection of the best objects to be used as tests in examinations: the maintenance and increase of the Library, its adaptation to the convenience of readers; the conduct of all the correspondence and various business involved in the examination of about two thousand candidates (including those at the preliminary examination); the writing and preservation of the records of all affairs; the care and improvement of the College-Property; these and many things more make up a vast sum of duties which, under the supervision and guidance of Committees of the Council, are performed by the officers of the College. The result of their labours cannot be told here, and is only imperfectly made known in the reports annually published in the College Calendar. For eleven months in the year the College is a field of constant active work in the business, the literature, and the sciences of Surgery; and it is but justice to say of its "officers and men" that they work with an admirable zeal and ability and are animated by a sincere desire to promote its reputation.

THE MUSEUM.

The Hunterian Collection, which forms the basis, and still a large proportion, of the contents of the present Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, was originally arranged in a building which its Founder, John Hunter, erected for it in 1784, behind his house in Leicester Square.

John Hunter died October 16th, 1793, aged 65. By his will he directed the Museum to be offered in the first instance to the British Government, on such terms as might be considered reasonable, and in case of refusal, to be sold in one lot, either to some foreign state, or as his executors might think proper.

In the year 1799 Parliament voted the sum of £15,000 for the Museum, and an offer of it being made to the Corporation of Surgeons, it was accepted on the terms proposed by Government*.

In 1806 the sum of £15,000 was voted by Parliament in aid of the erection of an edifice for the display and arrangement of the Hunterian Collection; a second grant of £12,500 was subsequently voted, and upwards of £21,000 having been supplied from the funds of the College, the building was completed in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, in which the Museum was opened for the inspection of visitors in the year 1813.

* The following are the Terms and Conditions on which the Hunterian Collection, purchased by Parliament, was delivered to the late Corporation of Surgeons; which Corporation having become dissolved, the Members thereof were re-incorporated by Charter, dated the 22nd day of March, 1800, under the Title of The Royal College of Surgeons in London:—

1st. The Collection shall be open Four Hours in the Forenoon of two days every week for Inspection and Consultation of the Fellows of the College of Physicians, the Members of the Company of Surgeons and Persons properly introduced by them; a Catalogue of the Preparations, and a proper Person to explain it, being at those times always in the Room.

2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twenty-four in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by the Preparations, shall be given every year by some Member of the Company.

3rd. That the Preparations shall be kept in a state of Preservation, and the Collection in as perfect a state as possible, at the Expense of the Corporation of Surgeons, subject to the annual Inspection and Superintendence of the Trustees.

4th. That there shall be a Board of Trustees, to consist of sixteen (increased to seventeen by the Lords of the Treasury in 1856) Members, by virtue of their Public Offices, and of fourteen others, to be appointed, in the first instance, by the Lords of the Treasury, and afterwards to be elected, as Vacancies may happen, by a Majority of the remaining Trustees.

5th. That the Museum shall always be open for the Inspection of all or any of the said Trustees, who are to take care that the Corporation of Surgeons perform their Engagements respecting the said Collection. That a day be appointed for the annual Inspection of the Museum, by the Trustees acting collectively as a Board; and that they are also to have quarterly Meetings, for the transacting of any Business relative to the Museum, and for the filling up of such Vacancies as may happen in the number of the Trustees; and that the Corporation of Surgeons shall engage some Person to officiate as Secretary to the Board upon such occasions, and to issue previous Notice to the Members, in which he is to state particularly whether any Vacancies are to be filled up by new Elections.

In consequence of the large number of additions, this building became too small for the adequate display and arrangement of its contents; and more space being at the same time required for the rapidly increasing Library, the greater portion of the present building was erected, wholly at the expense of the College, in 1835, at a cost of about £40,000, and the Hunterian and Collegiate Collections were re-arranged in what are now termed the Western and Middle Museums, which were opened for the inspection of visitors in 1836.

Further enlargement of the building having become necessary by the continued increase of the Collection, the College, in 1847, purchased the extensive premises of Mr. Alderman Copeland, in Portugal Street, for the sum of £16,000, and in 1852 proceeded to the erection of the Eastern Museum, at the expense of £25,000, Parliament granting £15,000 in aid thereof. The re-arrangement of the specimens was completed, and the additional portion of the building opened to visitors in 1855.

The Hunterian Collection was estimated to consist of 13,682 specimens, distributed under the following heads:—

Physiological Department, or Normal Structures.

Physiological preparations in spirit	3745
Osteological preparations	965
Dry do.	617
Zoological do.	1968
Fossils:—
Vertebrate	1215
Invertebrate	2202
Plants	292

Pathological Department, or Abnormal Structures.

Preparations in spirit	1084
Dry preparations (including bones)	625
Calculi and concretions	536
Monsters and Malformations	218
Microscopic preparations	215

Of the additions by which the size and value of the Collection have been so materially increased since it came into the possession of the College, very many have been presented by Fellows and Members of the College, and other persons interested in scientific pursuits. Among the largest contributions from this source have been the Collection, consisting of 847 specimens, presented in 1811 by Sir William Blizard, and a valuable series of Pathological specimens presented in 1851 by Sir Stephen L. Hammick. At the same time the Council of the College have availed themselves of various opportunities as they have occurred to purchase specimens of interest, especially at the dispersion of private anatomical and pathological museums, as that of Sir A. Lever in 1806, of Mr. Joshua Brookes in 1828, of Mr. Heaviside in 1829, Mr. Langstaff in 1835, Mr. South in the same year, Mr. Howship and Mr. Taunton in 1841, Mr. Liston in 1842, Mr. Walker in 1843, and, deserving of especial mention on account of the great number and value of the specimens acquired, that of Sir Astley Cooper in 1843.

The Histological Collection, of which the 215 Hunterian specimens (prepared by Hewson) constitute the nucleus, was chiefly formed by the late Professor Quekett, with considerable additions by purchase from Dr. Tweedy, J. Todd, Mr. Nasmyth, and Professor Lenhossek. It now contains upwards of 12,000 specimens, all arranged and catalogued so as to be readily available for reference :—

The superintendence of the Museum is confided by the Council of the College to a Committee of its Members, which Committee has held five meetings during the past year.

A summary of the progress made in the preservation, arrangement, and augmentation of the Collection will be found in the following Report :—

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CONSERVATOR TO THE MUSEUM COMMITTEE.

(Presented July 3rd, 1876.)

Pathological Collection.

The additions to the Pathological series have been of much the same character and value as in former years. Many specimens which are of no special interest by themselves have been included, in order to complete the illustrations of some of the groups of diseases which were imperfectly shown in the Museum before. This especially applies to lesions of the internal viscera.

Among the noticeable additions is a remarkable example of a peculiar form of hypertrophy of several of the bones of the same subject, presented by Sir James Paget. A valuable specimen of recovery from a fracture of the upper lumbar region of the spine, which occurred twenty-seven years before death, lately presented by Mr. T. Carr Jackson, is not yet sufficiently macerated to be included in the list of finished preparations. Mr. Spencer Wells has also recently presented a considerable collection of Pathological specimens, most of which require remounting.

The old preparations have been kept in good order, 313 having been remounted; and Dr. Goodhart has made considerable progress with the supplementary volume of the Catalogue.

Osteological Collection.

The principal additions include a very fine and perfect skeleton of the Nilotic Crocodile (Crocodilus vulgaris). The animal (a male, about 12 feet in length) was shot in the beginning of last year, near Abou Simbul in Nubia, by the Hon. Charles P. F. Berkeley, who had the bones very carefully prepared according to instructions with which I had provided him, and then forwarded to the Museum. They have since been carefully cleaned and articulated.

A good skeleton of the Grizzly Bear of North America (Ursus horribilis, Ord.), which was much needed for comparison with bones of Bears found in European caves, has been obtained by purchase.

Particularly large specimens of two species of fish—a Sheat-fish (Silurus glanis), 5 feet 6 inches in length and 53 lb. in weight, and a Carp (Cyprinus carpio), 27 lb. in weight, both from Berlin—have been presented by Lord Odo Russell, G.C.B., H.M. Ambassador to Germany, through Mr. Frank Buckland. They have both made excellent and instructive skeletons.

The Museum has profited by the late expedition to observe the Transit of Venus at the Island of Rodriguez. A fine series of bones of the extinct Dodo-like bird peculiar to that island, called "Solitaire" (Pezophaps solitarius), being part of the collection made by Mr. H. H. Slater, Naturalist to the Expedition, has been presented by the Royal Society, to which body the scientific work of the expedition and the distribution of the collections were entrusted. Out of these, a fairly perfect skeleton of a male and of a female bird, which differ much in size, have been constructed.

The visit of the Prince of Wales to India has also been the means of enriching our collection; but of the specimens (skeletons of tigers and bears) which His Royal Highness has been graciously pleased to present I shall be able to speak more fully in the next Report, as, owing to some unavoidable delay in unpacking them, they had not been received at the College at the time of writing this Report. They will be particularly acceptable, as the skeletons of these animals which we already possess are of individuals which have died in captivity in this country, and therefore are not very favourable examples for osteological comparison.

At the request of the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education, some specimens of the skeletons mounted in the Museum have been sent to the Loan Exhibition of Scientific Apparatus now at South Kensington; and I attended at one of the Conferences to explain the advantages of the method of articulation which we now adopt, and which has been brought to great perfection by the skill of our veteran articulator, Mr. James Flower.

The collection of human crania has received many valuable accessions during the year, particularly in a series of ten skulls of natives of the New-Hebrides Islands, lately rendered notorious as the scene of the lamentable death of Commodore Goodenough, R.N. Three of these skulls were collected by Dr. Corrie, Surgeon to H.M. Ship 'Pearl,' and forwarded direct to the Museum, and the remainder by Captain Goodenough himself, and sent by his widow to Colonel Lane Fox, President of the Anthropological Institute, by whom they have been presented to the College. Their anatomical peculiarities, which are very marked, have formed the subject of a memoir read a few days ago at the Anthropological Institute by Mr. Busk.

The body of an ancient Egyptian mummy, of the twenty-sixth dynasty, about 400 B.C., which was unrolled in July last at Stafford House, has been presented by the Duke of Sutherland, and articulated as a skeleton. An account of the inscription upon the case of the mummy has been published by Dr. Birch in the 'Proceedings' of the Society of Biblical Archæology, to which I have added some notes upon the skeleton.

Mention was made in the last year's Report of the formation of a collection of the auditory ossicles of various species of animals. The subject was found to offer such a wide and nearly new field of investigation that Mr. Doran has continued to make it a speciality, and the collection has now become by far the most perfect that has been brought together. Not only have all of these minute but highly characteristic bones which have hitherto been hidden in the recesses of the crania of the specimens in our Museum been extracted and displayed in such a manner as clearly to show their distinctive peculiarites, but we have also to acknowledge contributions towards the completion of the series from the private collections of several friends, especially Sir Victor Brooke, Professor Parker, and Professor Garrod. With the view of making the results of his examination of these specimens more generally known, Mr. Doran has lately communicated to the Royal Society a memoir describing the peculiarities of the auditory ossicles of the orders Primates, Carnivora, Rodentia, and Ungulata, and has a description of the remaining orders in progress.

As usual, a large portion of Mr. Doran's time has been occupied with the preparations required for the Anatomical Examinations.

Physiology and Normal Anatomy.

The additions to this series are fully equal to the usual average in number and variety. Among them may be noticed, on account of its rarity in collections (arising from the difficulty of extracting and preserving it in a perfect state), the brain of an adult Indian Elephant. This was obtained from the animal which died in the Zoological Society's Gardens last summer. The series of Normal Human Anatomy has been continued this year by several elaborate preparations showing the distribution of the nerves. All the above are the work of Mr. William Pearson. Some beautiful injections of the placenta of several animals, illustrating the views of the donor, as expressed in his lectures at the College, have been presented by Professor Turner of Edinburgh.

Surgical Instruments and Appliances.

Sir William Fergusson has presented, among other instruments of interest, a series of early forms of lithotrites, including some designed and constructed by himself.

Miscellaneous.

The bust of Mr. Clift, which had hitherto occupied rather an obscure corner in the hall, has, at the suggestion of the President, been placed upon a bracket over the entrance-door of the Western Museum, facing the statue of Hunter. Mr. Clift was the first Conservator of the Museum, having been appointed by the Council of the College in 1800, and retained the office nominally until his death in 1849, although he had for some years practically retired from its administration. When it is considered that it was mainly owing to the fidelity and devotion of Mr. Clift that the Museum was preserved without injury during the seven years which intervened between Hunter's death and its acquisition by the College, and that in after years its conservation and exposition were the chief objects to which his long life was devoted, the appropriateness of this mode of commemorating his services will be evident.

The number of Students who make use of the Museum steadily increases. During the year 1875, 6493 Visitors entered their names in the Hall-Porter's book—a number considerably exceeding that of any previous year.

THE LIBRARY.

The formation of a regular Library may be said to have commenced in the year 1801, at which time and in succeeding years presentations and bequests of books, often in considerable numbers, were made to the College—the principal donors being Dr. Baillie, Sir Everard Home, Sir Charles Blicke, the widow of Mr. Sharp, Sir Ludford Harvey, Dr. Fleming, Mr. Cotton, and Mr. Long. The Court of Assistants also directed from time to time the expenditure of small sums of money for the purchase of books, and eventually voted a sum of £100 per annum for this purpose. Sir Charles Blicke, in the year 1816, invested the sum of £300, the proceeds of which sum were to be devoted to the same object. Some of the purchases thus made were considerable, as in the cases of the Libraries of Mr. Pitt, Mr. St. Andre, and Sir Anthony Carlisle, and books of importance were added at the recommendation of the Conservator of the Museum and others. In this way a Library of considerable value was gradually accumulated, but it was only accessible to a limited number of persons. In 1827 active steps were taken to render it more generally useful, and with this object catalogues and extensive lists of desirable acquisitions were ordered to be prepared. Large sums of money were also expended during this and the ensuing two years, amounting in the aggregate to nearly £6000. A Librarian was appointed, and in 1828 the Library, then containing 10,500 volumes, was thrown open to members of the College, and all other persons engaged in the pursuit of natural science were freely admitted. This large collection, thus opened, offered great facilities to the studious. By means of extensive additions, the collection was well nigh complete in works on Medicine and Surgery, both domestic and foreign, whilst it was also very rich in publications relating to the accessory sciences. The transactions of Academies and Societies, and the collection of periodical publications in general, owing to their completeness, and the difficulty with which access can be obtained to this class of literature elsewhere than in large libraries, formed a valuable feature. The maintenance of the Library from that time to the present has involved a very considerable expenditure of the funds of the College. It has been the object of those to whose care it has been confided to ensure the completeness and excellence of the collection, and great facilities of reference have been provided by the preparation of additional catalogues and indexes of subjects. During the last year there have been added to the Library 467 volumes, including 123 new works and 249 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses. The entire collection now consists of 35,639 volumes, comprising 14,258 works, and 37,717 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses.

The following is a list of the donations that have been presented to the Library during the year 1875–76, viz.—
